"I think they're stupid, just plain stupid," said Sara Alma Giles in answer to a question about practical jokes. "I guess it's because I can't appreciate them, that I don't like them, but I can't enjoy any practical joke whether it's played on me or somebody else. And, furthermore I'm whooping with joy because Sara Alma Giles, Carole Lombard and Clark Gable are married. Now maybe they will quit their childishness and cut out the fooling."

"Of course it does, said Snookie Thompson in answer to a question as to whether the spring weather affected her as tradition says it should. "Doesn't everybody feel better when spring comes? You can pack away heavy clothes, go on long walks and besides, in general, and sometimes specifically, you have more love for mankind in the Spring."

When Beth Williams was asked if she has a hobby, she enthusiastically answered, "Right now my hobby is sketching things — people and scenes and most anything that appeals to me. Dramatics is another hobby of mine. Of course hobbies take up a lot of time, especially mine, for before I'm through mine always become obsessions. But I think a hobby is grand thing—so much fun!"

HOME GOING WEEK-ENDS

Announcement of the dates set for home-going week-ends in the Spring quarter was officially made yesterday by Dean Hoy Taylor.

He stated that there would be no classes on the following Saturdays: April 29, May 6, and May 13. Students may choose any one of these three dates—leaving after classes on Friday and returning on Sunday night.

The arrangement was especially designed to give those students who desire it an opportunity to be at home on Mother's Day.

Dr. Henry Rogers To Install New P K D Members

The installation ceremonies for the members recently voted into Pi Kappa Delta, forensic fraternity, will be held next week. The neophytes are Eriwina Cox, Armina Lewis, Frances Brittain, Nelle De Vitt and Helen Blevins.

Dr. Henry Rogers, faculty advisor of the local chapter, will install the new members. He will be assisted by Nellie Jo Flynt, president; and Marguerite Chester, vice-president.

A formal banquet in honor of the new members will follow the initiation.

An article giving the history of forensics at G. S. C. W. appears in the March issue of the Forensic Nat'l P. K. D. Magazine. The article is accompanied by a picture of the local chapter members.

Jesters To Present Murder Trial Play In Courthouse

Using a setting no less realistic than the courthouse, the Jesters' new play, "The Night of January 16th" will present a plot of the secretary-employer murder and the trial, which constitutes most of the action of the play, will be carried on with members of the audience chosen as jurors. These jurors are to render their verdict from the evidence produced during the play.

The play, under the direction of Miss Edna West will be given in the court house, April 19th and 20th. The play may be presented three nights in succession due to the limited number of seats. Admission prices have not as yet been decided.

The Jesters will hold their regular meeting Thursday afternoon. Votes will be taken as to the members of the Masqueraders who will be tapped for this higher dramatic organization. Membership for the Jesters is based upon outstanding work as a Masquerader. Announcement of those chosen will be made later. At this meeting the Jesters will elect their officers, who will take office immediately.

CORINTHIAN ANNOUNCEMENT

Corinthian elections will be held Thursday, April 6, at 5:00, according to an announcement by Margaret Weaver. The elections will be held in the Geography room in Parks and all members of the staff may vote. This includes business, literary, and circulation staff members.

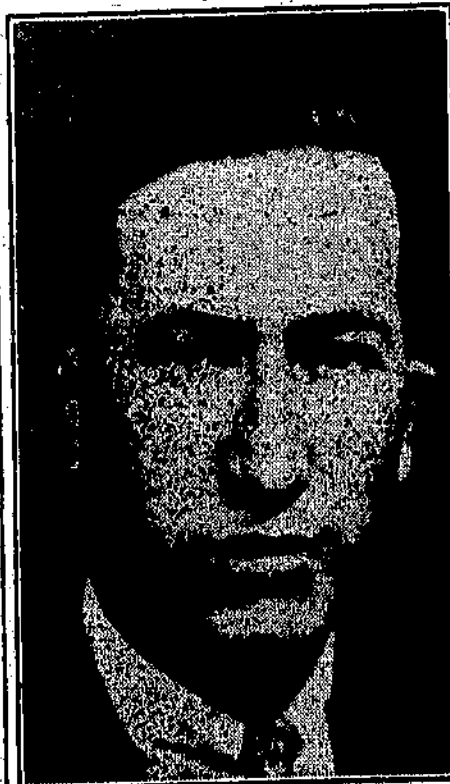

Capel Completes Work For Doctor's Degree

Mr. W. C. Capel, assistant professor of the social sciences and professor of Journalism, has returned to the campus from New York.

Mr. Capel spent the spring holiday period at the University of Columbia in New York where he took his final examination for the doctor's degree.

He was successful in his examinations and his degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Sociology will be awarded upon the publication of his dissertation.

Mr. Capel expects to publish the thesis sometime during the spring or summer. The dissertation is concerned with certain aspects of social stratification in the southern region.

HARRIETT HUDSON RECEIVES CGA LOVING-CUP

College Government officials for 1939-40 were installed at an impressive service at the chapel hour Friday morning. According to tradition, the retiring president of CGA made a farewell speech to the students and turned the CGA loving cup over to the Spirit of College Government, represented by the assistant dean of women, Miss Iva Chandler, who in turn presented the cup to the new president, Harriett Hudson. Harriett, after accepting the cup and all it stands for, called on the presidents of each class for an expression of the aims of their class and each class sang the class song. Both retiring and new officials wore white which added solemnity to the service.

The new officers of College Government are: Harriett Hudson, president; Marion Bennett, chairman of the judiciary; Lou Ella Meaders, vice-president; Panke Knox, secretary; Jane Melton, corresponding secretary; Madeline Blackwelder, treasurer; Betty Adams, president of Senior class; Jane McConnell, president of Junior class; Frances Cannon, (Continued on Page Four)

All members of the present Colonnade staff are requested to be present. 1938-39 staff officers, freshmen reporters, and circulation assistants are eligible to vote. Any staff members who have classes at four o'clock, please come to the Colonnade office at 10:30 Monday morning.

Evelyn Veal to Preside in Commerce Club

Evelyn Veal was elected president of the Commerce Club at the monthly meeting of the club Wednesday night, March 8. Other officers elected were: Celia Deese, vice-president; Nan McLeod, Secretary; Betty Jones, Treasurer. Ariza Hillhouse, the retiring president of the club was in charge.

On Short Week-Ends

According to recent reports on the campus the students don't know a good thing when they have one.

There has been a great deal of complaining from the students in regard to the removal of the phonograph machines. And much indignation has been expressed due to the installation of the nickelodeons.

Now the entire purpose of the jook-organs is to provide the girls with new records and really good dance music. Every nickel the students feed into the machine goes toward paying for it.

After the nickelodeon has been bought there will be a permanent "trip" placed on the machine, which will allow the whole record program to play through. Records will be changed as often as the rented machines.

So it seems to us that the nickelodeons are a definite asset to the college and should be recognized as such. There is much cause for rejoicing and none for the weeps and wails that have been circulating over the campus.

On Good Debating

In the March issue of the Pi Kappa Delta, National Honorary Debating Society, Magazine, there was a rather lengthy and laudatory article on the accomplishments of the G. S. C. W. Debating Club.

The article dealt with the organizing and the development of the club under the supervision of Dr. Eugene Cornelius, former member of the faculty, and Sue Lindsey ('38) who organized the first debating team on the campus during her freshman year. During this year, in spite of the newness of it the organization came out with flying colors in a comparatively heavy schedule with contracts from Pennsylvania to Florida.

Honorable mention was also made of others on the campus who were instrumental in the growth of the Debating Club. The article spoke of the efforts of Miss Helen Greene, who was Faculty Advisor for 1937-'38, in getting the club admitted into Pi Kappa Delta, of Miss Edna West, new addition to the faculty, who is now assisting Dr. W. T. Wynn in coaching the debaters in platform speaking, and also of Dr. H. H. Rogers, who has done a great deal of meritorious work in debating, and who was appointed installing officer for the services which were held in the spring of 1938. At that time Sue Lindsey, Nellie Jo Flynt, Marguerite Chester, Eloise Bowlan, and Aleine Fountain were initiated.

The article went on to state something of the club's plans in forensic work for this year which so far have been very successful.

Besides this rather noteworthy account of the Debating Club, there was a picture of several of the members and brief historical account of the growth and advancement of G. S. C. W.

The article was altogether another feather in the cap of the debaters, and here is hoping that they have a whole cap full of feathers before they are through.

Home Management House Gets Code

The two home management houses have recently been given the senior code. Their privileges have been greatly expanded by the use of the code, for which the interne housekeepers are thoroughly grateful.

Granting the code was entirely sensible since the groups who live in the houses are very small and therefore easily managed. Also it would be unfortunate if seniors had to spend part of their spring quarter devoid of the privileges which they had enjoyed all winter.

In short, what The Colonnade is trying to imply is that congratulations are indicated and extended to those who were instrumental in obtaining the code for the home management girls.

The Editor Comments

Dr. Lotus D. Coffman has denounced schools in which teachers allow the students to set the pace, "give them what they want" and those in which a highly centralized government teaches only what it wants the students to know. "Education for freedom can come from neither of these types," he said. There goes somebody else bringing up that word "freedom" again.

A G. S. C. W. student was standing her exam recently for a driver's license. She drove the state patrolman around for quite some time, and was pleased with her success. When she got back to where she started from, and asked him how she did, he said, "Well, girlie, you didn't give a single signal all the time we were gone." She replied, "I didn't see anybody I knew".

Following the general trend of evading as much exercise as possible, a freshman presented to Dr. Taylor a drop card for her Physical Ed. course. Her reason, as stated on the card, was "Misplaced foot." When she had handed him her card and gone, he looked puzzled, and said to his secretary, "why she had it with her when she came in."

On Lack of Appreciation

It has been announced that our spring quarter home-going week-end is to consist of a choice of one out of three short week-ends.

This means that girls who live at any considerable distance from the campus will be unable to go home at all during this quarter, which gives the near-by residents a distinctly unfair advantage over those girls who happen to live farther away than Atlanta or Macon. A week-end is presumably set aside for the student's relaxation and rest, hoping that he may return with renewed vigor, or at least nothing worse. It is hardly fair to deprive part of the students of this chance to go home.

This change from the customary long week-end is puzzling in another way. The spring quarter is longer than the winter quarter, at which time the allowing of only one short week-end could be explained by the shortness of the term. The spring quarter is, in fact, almost as long as the Fall quarter, when a choice was offered of either one long week-end or two short ones. It is certainly not too much to ask that the week-end be lengthened to allow all the girls to take advantage of it.

Letters to Editor . . .

Dear Editor,

It has been suggested, through editorials before, that movie dates be allowed to walk back to the dormitories with us, but we would like to add our strength to this plea.

We have always heard and felt that common courtesy demanded that a boy bring the girl home with whom he has a date. It is embarrassing to bid a boy good-by at the door of the theatre as though you have really been doing something underhanded and it is better to end the whole thing as soon as possible.

For awhile, we were allowed to walk to the dormitory with our dates but a rule was passed forbidding this because it was said that the boys lingered on the campus. What the authorities fail to realize is that, if we must linger, which is only natural and will occur, it is better to linger on the campus than down town or along the streets.

We hope something can be done about this soon.

A Sophomore.

Dear Editor,

It is a shame that girls, supposed to have reached the age of discretion, if such exists, should not be allowed to ride in a taxi, even when burdened with numerous bags. It seems that one girl was a little indiscreet about the time it took her to get from one place to another, but it is a little absurd to take what is almost a necessity from thirteen hundred girls simply because one person takes too much liberty.

If it was a common occurrence for girls to take extended tours in taxi cabs, it would be perfectly easily understood that some restriction should be laid down. However, it is not, and we do not feel that it is fair to deprive the rest of the students of the right.

A Junior.

Quotable Quotes

"The educational program for colleges and universities in the future will call for much greater selectivity in the admission of students and a consequently greatly intensified program of study. Colleges and universities will have to divert their attention gradually from giving less time to more students to giving more time to fewer students, a distinct reversal of the trend that has characterized the past two decades." New York University's Dr. Rufus D. Smith charts the changes that will come with the predicted decline in enrollments.

"The student should acquire and graft into his very being the social and mental habits that underlie citizenship in a democracy. The country needs citizens with a sense of social responsibility and mental capacity for understanding public issues far more than it needs technical experts." Yale University's Pres. Charles Seymour charts a new course for education to follow in these troubled times.

The educational process is in some part a search for truth. It is also an experience in getting acquainted with the wisdom of the ages. It is a need for inspiration and spiritual development also. These needs are met only if we take time to consider profoundly our relation to the search for truth. It is also an experience in But it must be something more, for human beings are not only individuals but also members of a community. Out of such contemplation is built that part of man that has to do with religious experience. This experience needs analysis, sustenance and stabilizing if it is to have meaning and effect." University of Wisconsin's Pres. C. A. Dykstra urges a greater stress on religion in education.

Intercollegiate Educated Shoes

Billy Worthington, University of Alabama, has a 13-year-old pair of shoes in his possession that he wouldn't sell for any price, even if they are held together by safety pins. They've been worn at Harvard, Princeton, Notre Dame, Dartmouth, Rutgers, M. I. T., N. Y. U., McGill, Cornell, Northwestern, Georgia Tech and Alabama. First worn by a Harvard student in 1926, the "educated" shoes have been sent from school to school. Main use of the shoes states the document that accompanies them is that they be "worn during great strife and stress such as finals, depressions, quizzes, chaos and through the many hours during the comparative calm and quiet of study". The shoes seem to bring good luck, too, for last semester Billy piled up a record of 5 A's and 2 B's. Photo by Faber

Science Develops New Aid for Surgeons

Thrombin 'Freezes' Flowing Blood

One of the most significant of the medical discoveries to be announced in the last month is the report from University of Iowa doctors that they have perfected a method of using thrombin to clot blood in humans. Of particular benefit to surgeons because it will prevent bleeding and make their work easier, the research was directed by Dr. H. P. Smith, head of Iowa's pathology department. Dr. Smith has been working on this particular research project for seven years, financed by grants from the John and Mary Markle Foundation of New York.

In concentrated form, one hundredth ounce of thrombin will clot a barrel of blood in less than five seconds. At right is ordinary blood, in left test tube (up-side-down) is blood after addition of thrombin.

Preparing for an operation, an ordinary atomizer is filled with thrombin. With this spray, the substance will be administered during the operation to "freeze" blood.

First step in producing concentrated thrombin begins with the addition of chemicals to beef blood from which the life-saving substance is derived.

DRESS PARADE

What with Spring presenting itself in full fashion these days except for an occasional shower here and there all you gals on the campus seem to be following suit. Grace Brown dashed up to the Colonnade office in a most attractive outfit the other day to have her picture taken. The dress was of the new mint green shade with navy blue stripes running through it. It was made along princess lines with unpressed pleats. The neck was close fitting, and three navy blue oblong buttons were placed down the front of the waist. To complete the costume Grace wore a perky little panache hat of navy straw with velvet bows of chateaufleur, fuschia, and dubonnet. Her accessories were also navy.

Margaret Bracey has the lovely list new spring coat of egg shell blue with a light fox collar. The coat is fitted with gores in the skirt and two pockets. It is caught in the center of the front by a single button.

Elizabeth Bowden was walking about on the campus in a good-looking spring suit of dusty rose. It was a two-piece affair, the skirt having wide kick pleats in front and back, and the coat was fitted and buttoned down the front by transparent glass buttons with rose-colored centers. The neckline was close fitting and came to a V with no collar.

We hear that Margaret Weaver looked tops at the Emory dances last week-end in a two-piece evening dress, consisting of a full, black crepe skirt, and a dainty blouse entirely of tiny lace ruffles with a sweetheart neck. A wide sash of chateaufleur added the contrasting note of color, making the costume very effective.

Seen' the Cinemas

People who insist on thinking of showboats in connection with darky slaves cavorting along the levees and Dixie belles in crinolines skirts will have a surprise coming to them when the new Dorothy Lamour picture, "St. Louis Blues," comes to town next Monday and Tuesday.

For, as "St. Louis Blues" shows, there are still showboats on "old man river."

Miss Lamour's role is that of a rebellious Broadway actress who gets fed up with publicity and glamour and joins a showboat troupe in a moment of pique at her manager. Miss Lamour's new leading man, Lloyd Nolan, will be seen as the captain and manager of the floating theatre of the Mississippi.

Robert Sherwood's Pulitzer prize-winning play, "Idiot's Delight," will be seen Thursday and Friday with Norma Shearer and Clark Gable in the memorable roles created by Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt.

In the picture the initial meeting of the shabby vaudeville girl and hooper in Omaha provides a new opening. On the stage the incident could be established only by dialogue.

The story follows these obscure people to Europe, where Gable, as the hooper again, meets the girl who has become, outwardly, at least, a countess. She is toying at the moment with a munitions maker, but she has never forgotten the fellow trouper of Omaha. War crashes into the scene, and with a group of frightened travelers the two are trapped in a border town during an air raid. They realize then that nothing matters except the love that began on the road tour back in Omaha.

Lynn Bari and June Gale say that a girl must live and if possible live well and they set about to prove it in "Pardon Our Nerve," which will be seen here Wednesday.

The film finds the girls as two hungry little angels musing on the heaven where mink coats and caviar grow and gallop off to a lively start when they are sent horse-back riding by the Elite Escort Service. The horses run away and the picture is under way.

Saturday is double-feature day with "The Adventures of Jane Arden," starring Rosella Towne and William Gargan, and "King of Chinatown" with Anna May Wong and Alvin Tamiroff.

Your Recreation Activities

Swimming Meet

Do you know how your class stands in the number of swimming stars as compared with the rival class? If not, there's no better way than to go over to the pool in the afternoons and watch as they practice religiously and with marked improvement.

Swimming is one of the few sports not affected by inclement weather. No matter how wet it may be out-of-doors, the hardy contestants do not seem to mind, for the wetter their surroundings, the better they enjoy it.

The meet is to be April 17, and these girls are really giving a lot of time and energy to their practicing. If you too would like to swim, come to the pool from 4:45-5:15 for plunge period, and from 4:15-4:45 for instruction. Then after your swim you can aid your class by verbal encouragement. At any rate, be sure to be on hand for the meet and boost your class. The seniors have a strong team, but will find strong competition, particularly in the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes.

Softball

Softball, or its brother form, baseball, is considered America's favorite game, and from observing the first two days of the season, we can well support the fact. Some of the secretarial students have even left their typewriters to cool off while they warm up playing. A notable example is Rose Newman, who, having newly become a member of the Folk Dance Club and who has reported for softball, is said to be considering changing her major. To quote Rose, "It also aids in reducing."

Spring is upon us and we mustn't let it go by without a real recognition of the fact. These lovely warm afternoons seem created for the express purpose of getting out of doors, so put on shorts and join us on the back campus.

Tennis

Tennis too is in the air, and we find the balls in the same condition as they soar high and wide, for we're just shaking off that wintertime stiffness of arm and racket.

There is to be a singles and doubles tournament soon, and if you think you don't play well enough to enter, enter anyway. You might be paired off with someone who can't play as well as you can, and if you're playing against the best player in school, you've at least had some good practice and fine exercise and you'll play a better game next time for it.

There is a little matter of our "Court Etiquette." The court space is rather limited on our campus, and there are a lot of girls who want to play. The playing time is limited to an hour if there are people waiting, but at the end of that time those waiting will not move onto the court, although they might pointedly ask the score in games, so it is our duty to leave the court. This allows more people to play, and who knows but that you may be the one waiting next time.

Folk Dance Club

In preparation for the Folk Festival to be held later on in the Spring, and to make bigger and better Tuesday nights, the Folk Dance Club has had try-outs and has taken on thirteen new members. The new aspirants are: Marie Cason, Catherine Combs, Martha Darden, Ruby Donald, Mary Godwin, Belle Ha'e, Caroline Jordan, Jane McConnell, Rose Newman, Mary Power, Lucia Rooney, Snookie Thompson, and Frances Wilkie. The goal toward which they are now working is the Folk Festival, with its dances and accompanying study of the customs of the people represented.

Creative Dancing

A small group of potential creative dancers have united under the leadership of Miss Andrews, Miss Colvin, and Miss Redden, (to learn more about the many aspects of the dance. They are working from 7:00-9:00 each Wednesday evening, spending an hour on technique, and an hour of composition. Wednesday night the slightly clad dancers were caught by the sudden rain, but reporting no ill affects other than a general stiffening of joints, they will be on hand when another week has passed.

The Recreation Association offers a varied program, that should fit every one's needs and desires. This is your Association, so take an active part in it by participating in what suits you best.

HOBBY SHOW POEM

By BETTY KUHN

If you collect marbles, or stamps, or bazookas, Or shoe strings, bananas, or fleas, If you take candid snapshots or knit little whistits, We'd like them for our hobby show, please.

If you go star-gazing, or studying birds And take notes in a little black book— If you auction tobacco, draw cartoons, or crochet— Let us put them where the public can look.

If you cultivate pansies eyebrows, or moustaches, If you tattoo, carve whatnots or spin, Whatever your hobby, however fantastic, It's just what we're interested in.

So whatever collections of insects or matchsticks, Dance programs, hotel linen, or fish, Please tell us about them and let us exhibit Them in the hobby show—that's all we wish.
